RED HOT SUMMER

Boys dive into the Moscow River which cuts through the center of Moscow.

"Rocketa," one of the new river busses, cruises by Luzhniki Sports Park.

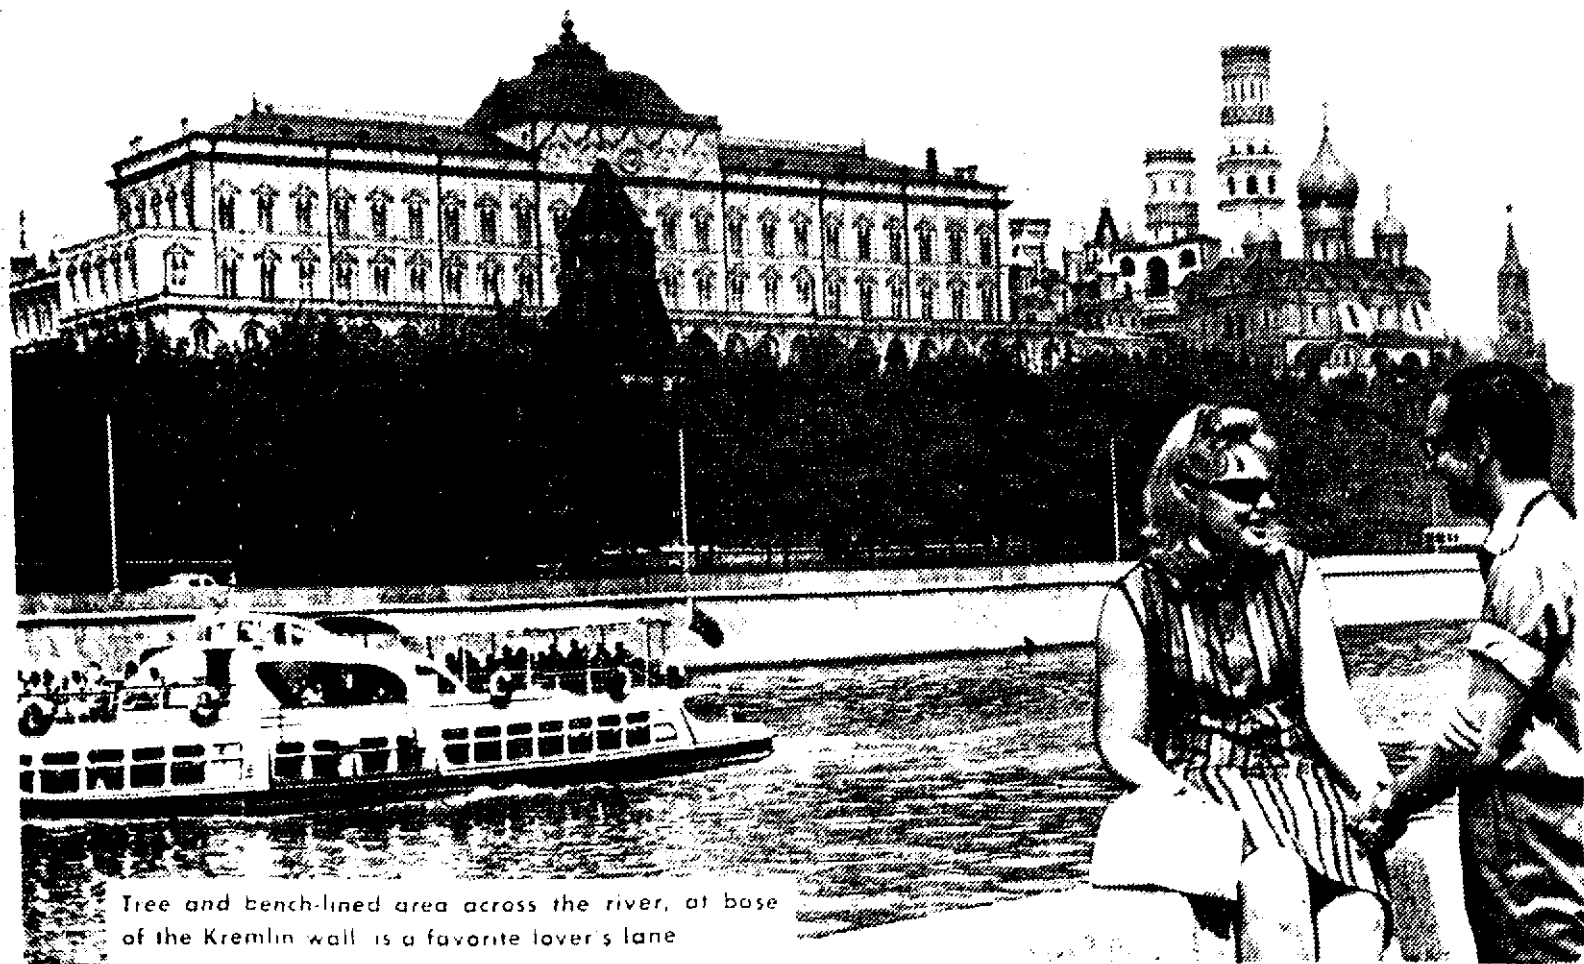

Sasha, 18-months-old, is read fairy tales by grandfather in Gorki Park.

When the winter winds subside and spring turns to summer, Moscow's citizens, like people in other cities all over the world, seek means of escaping the heat. Riverboat busses offering cooling breezes are a favorite means of escape. The tours offer views of most of the city's tourist attractions and the fare is only fifteen cents. The Moscow River, which cuts through the center of the city, becomes a refuge for swimmers, sun bathers and lovers who stroll through the tree-lined parks along its banks. Other parks fill with chess players, fun seekers and those who want only the coolness of the tree-shaded areas.

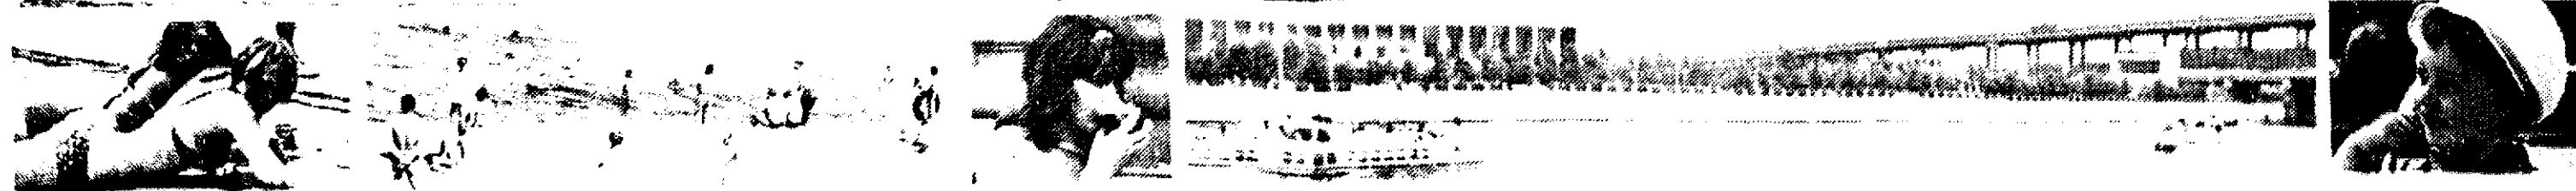

Kvass, a drink made from brown bread, is a summer favorite.

A New Body Make-up Smooths Blotchy Tans

By PATRICIA KING
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Most of us have good tans. Even those who do not sunbathe regularly will notice a considerable change in their skin color.

Beauty experts say that today's woman should be a one-color woman—the same hue from head to toe. The skin, they say, should match.

Your lipstick and eye make-up should also be toned down. A paler skin tone requires less vivid accents. Naturally, this make-up can also be added to the face and throat.

This is a difficult task to achieve, but with the help of a new cosmetic, not impossible.

The most effective way, therefore, to be a skin match-maker is with a body and face make-up. The new beauty essential is for those who prefer complexion continuity rather than the blotchy look that often occurs during the transitional period.

Body and face make-up is a new concept in cosmetics. It should be clear and transparent.

Before you buy this new make-up, read the label. Make certain it does not smudge, smear or rub off except with soap and water.

This type of make-up is the antidote for sportsters whose swimsuits or other bare-type summer clothes have left unattractive patchy markings on the skin.

The body make-up fills in the places where straps and scoops and cut-outs have produced a virtual op-art pattern.

Body make-up is great for the hippies. Bare midriff tops and hip-bugger slacks leave a lot of exposed skin that may not match the rest of you.

Applied properly, it should

The Way to Beauty

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The recent this year is definitely on legs. It isn't only the men who are leg-watching, but the accessory designers as well.

Undoubtedly this is the time for the most daring and original ideas in fashion as well as beauty. Young gals in mini-skirts are gilding their gams with the very latest fad... the decorated knee, ankle or shin.

There is nothing new about sporting a beauty mark. Madame DuBarry did that. And we have taken a giant step forward from tattooing and courageous young ladies will be sporting decals on their legs. The application of these is completely painless and requires little effort and just a bit of patience.

For the neatest results, of course, the legs should be clean-shaven and smooth.

Follow decal instructions for removal of the decal from the back paper.

Then press the delicate decal on the skin with the soft, gentle touch of a cotton swab.

Pressing it down with your fingers can easily tear it or make it stick to your fingers instead of your leg and can wear your patience thin. So avoid this unwanted trouble.

The removal of decals from your legs is a very simple procedure. Because of the natural oils of your skin, decals peel off in no time.

To add the provocative touch to your end-of-summer look, be gay and nestle a butterfly or posy on the skin. You needn't stop with one design. Add as many as you want and feel free to mix colors as well as designs.

It certainly will be a conversation piece among the fun-loving teens who say YEA-H to any new or slightly daring beauty fad.

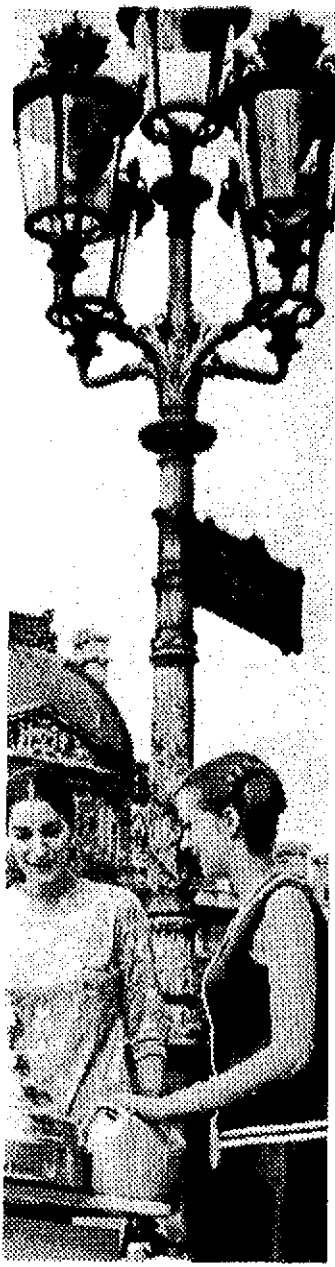

Ocean Salt

If the oceans of the world suddenly dried up, they would yield no less than 45 million cubic miles of rock salt or about 14 1/2 times the bulk of the entire continent of Europe above highwater mark.

1966 IS THE YEAR of the leg. The growth of the mini-skirt movement has provided extra leg show. Never before has there been so much emphasis on the legs, as you can see above. A delicate butterfly decal is being pressed gently to the skin with a cotton swab.

HELEN HELP US!

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!
This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

SEND NET FOR THIS SHUTTER BUG
Dear Helen: My girl friends and I have a problem. In our town there is a man we don't know, about middle-aged, and when we girls are walking home, he turns up in his blue car and follows us slowly near the curb. When we reach our destination, he sometimes takes out a camera and flashes it at us, this usually when we're alone. He never bothers or says anything to us, and if we told anybody we'd sound silly and they wouldn't believe us.

Once he followed me home and when he took out his camera, I ran very fast into my garage. What to do? — Bothered

Dear Bothered: Tell your parents, who will alert the police. It's never silly to report suspicious actions. How else can you get protection? — H.

Dear Helen: My parents aren't strict enough. I am now 15 and dating, but I probably could have started when I was 13 if I had wanted to.

I have to make up rules for myself such as what time to be home, where to go or not to go, and that I can't single date. Then I tell the boys these are my folks' rules, because I don't want them to think I'm folks don't care. They DO care, very much.

My parents love me and they think they are doing me a favor, but someone has to lay down the law, don't they? — My Own Guardian

Dear MOG: You're doing a mighty fine job of it!

And your parents may be wiser than you think. They taught you to make the right decisions — though I agree with you: this is too much responsibility too soon. — H.

HIS COMMENDATION IS HER CONDEMNATION!
Dear Helen: I'm 17 and last year I went out with a boy who was terribly fresh. I couldn't stand his pawing attempts so I left in the middle of our date.

Well, he hangs around with about 10 other slobbs and they have spread filthy rumors about me because their buddy's pride was hurt. They call me names and make my life miserable.

I guess you know that a commendation by that kind means no nice boys will even call me up any more. Or maybe I haven't been asked out by anyone I'd go with in six months because these hoods may have made threats. What can I do? — T.K.

Dear T: When a hood's commendation is YOUR condemnation, the best solution is a commendation by that kind means no nice boys will even call me up any more. Or maybe I haven't been asked out by anyone I'd go with in six months because these hoods may have made threats. What can I do? — T.K.

VERSATILE: An extra scrubbing hand comes in the form of a square-cut brush with shaped handle. Design helps reach into corners and other hard to clean areas. May be used for washing dishes, scrubbing upholstered furniture, white-wall tires, fruits and vegetables. It is recommended not to use same brush for all tasks.

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

THIS FALL YOU'RE GOING BACK TO SCHOOL BY THE MILLIONS. You number 24 million! You're the tallest, richest and best-educated students America has ever had... Here are some highlights about your world this fall:

More than 15 million of you will sit behind desks in more than 25,000 high and junior high schools (80 per cent of them public), where some 700,000 teachers will preside.

YOU'RE BUYING A MOUNTAIN OF THINGS AND you're important to business. Teen-aged girls will spend close to half a billion dollars this year and teen men nearly a third as much, for grooming. Together, you will pay for well over $300 million worth of records, buy more than $400 million in food snacks, and treat yourselves to $1.5 billion worth of entertainment. You're a sizable segment of the economy, with the total $15 billion you spend this year and the additional $30 billion of your family's purchases that you will influence.

BUT, YOU'RE BIG EARNERS, TOO. Much more than your fathers' or mothers' generation. Two-thirds of you work... part-time or year-round. So, it's no wonder your earnings are running well over $20 billion a year and—right now—they're edging higher each month.

JOBS: THINGS ARE LOOKING UP FOR WORK THIS FALL. Teen-agers employed now number more than eight million. Though there are also some 1,800,000 who are unemployed, the rate is down around 12 per cent, against 14 per cent last year. It's the lowest in a long time in the teen job market. But the unemployment rate is still three times as high for teens as for all unemployed—and for high school dropouts it's double the over-all teen rate. So, if you want a job, the looking is pretty good... but you're better off staying in school.

The Boutique

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise Women's Editor

PARIS—(NEA)—At 18, Kathy Himmelberger visited Paris in a manner more luxurious than most of us can manage in a lifetime. This fact would seem to answer the question, "Do blondes have more fun?"

But it was what's inside the pretty, blue-eyed blonde's head that won her this opportunity. Kathy, an honor student just graduated from Southern Lehigh High School in Center Valley, Pa., wrote an essay on the essentials of teenage grooming, giving a new twist to beauty by quoting Shakespeare in her lead. "To thine own self be true."

After an interview by a distinguished panel (one member was the Dean of Women at Temple University), Kathy was chosen over 5,200 contestants as winner of Hess's Teen-Trip of a Lifetime. The Allentown department store outfitted Kathryn with clothes for all occasions, gave her $100 and flew her to Paris on an all-expense-paid holiday in the world's fashion capital.

I talked with Kathy in the suite she shared with her chaperone, Mrs. Evelyn Frank, at the elegant George V Hotel in Paris.

What interested her most about this city? Her prompt reply was threefold:

The spectacular view from the foot of Sacre Coeur in Montmartre, where all of Paris looks like an artist's canvas; the fact that museum pieces are housed where they were used instead of in places newly built for the purpose ("It gives you an eerie feeling"); and the teen-agers.

I couldn't argue with Sacre Coeur, Fontainebleau or Versailles. But what about the teen-agers?

"I expected them to be more sophisticated. But they're just like the kids back home except they dress better. There aren't many mini-skirts and most of the kids look so classic and trim and uncluttered."

Jean-Jacques Tiebout, editor of Vingt-ans, a teen-age magazine, had arranged for Kathy to meet some girls and boys her own age who took her to the sidewalk cafes where the youngsters gather to drink citron presse (lemonade you make yourself) and talk endlessly of cabbages and kings. They took her to the small boutiques where they buy their clothes and to the discotheques where they wear them.

"The music was just like ours," Kathy said. "And so were the dances. I felt right at home. And I met a very nice boy."

From the look in her eye the transatlantic mail will be a bit heavier now in both directions.

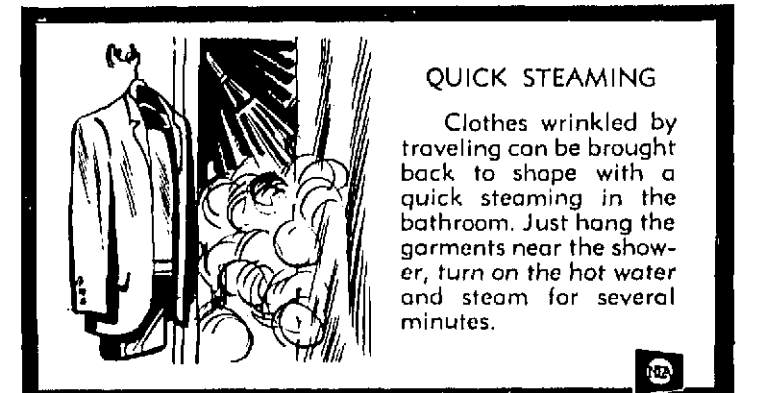

Kathryn, who has had five years of French, wanted to use it.

"But there's not often a chance," she said. "All the kids speak English and I have to remind them to speak French to me."

From the famous Canard at La Tour D'Argent to the races at Auteuil, from Louvre, Fontainebleau and Versailles to the Lido nightclub, from the Flea Market to a special invitation from President de Gaulle to the Independence Day parade, Kathy saw Paris with the entree of a diplomat.

And when she had her hair done in the latest coiffure at Lorka, a favorite beauty salon of Parisian teen-agers, she came full circle. For with it parted in the center, pulled out over each ear and fastened at the sides with braids, she looked more like a Dutch doll than when she left her hometown deep in the Pennsylvania Dutch country.

Miniskirt Players to Visit Troops

LONDON (AP) — Thirteen English girls who wear mini-skirts and play music with a beat are going to South Vietnam this year to entertain American troops.

Ivy Benson, who formed her first all-girl band 25 years ago, used to dress her musicians in evening gowns but now mini-skirts are the fashion.

"I'm all for them," she said. "We play beat music with a big brass section. I'm sure the American boys will love it."

Worship In Church Every Week

My Plight

then, maybe you are partially responsible for the situation we find here. God may take from your store-house the 'just' amount. He said, inasmuch as you have done it to the least of these little ones, so have you done it to me. Her plight may be our responsibility. May we see that she has the opportunity to attend church regularly for we are, our brother's keeper.

Things Gloomy But LBJ Talks Confidently

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is talking confidently under a gloomy umbrella.

He is more frank about Vietnam than President John F. Kennedy was and shows more realism about it than used to be exhibited by Robert S. McNamara, who is his secretary of defense and was Kennedy's.

Although this country pumped billions of dollars in economic and military aid into South Vietnam under President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Kennedy, that country was in danger of being lost to the Communists because the American-backed dictator President Ngo Dinh Diem did not put in the reforms the United States insisted upon.

You didn't hear much about it from Kennedy. Apparently he felt that at last he cracked down shortly before Diem was assassinated. After that event things picked up. Gradually American forces there were built up.

McNamara seemed to have such a poor understanding of what was happening meanwhile, and of what lay ahead, that as late as 1964 he told Congress even if the war didn't go well this country should still withdraw most of its troops by 1965.

He said the Vietnamese had the primary responsibility for winning the war, which was true. But that always had been true. And if the South Vietnamese had been left to themselves, the Communists would have overwhelmed them, which was exactly what this country didn't want.

And there were McNamara's seemingly endless expeditions to Vietnam for a look-see and his returns with statements almost always sunny, like "things are progressing very well out there" or "the Vietnamese are on the right track" when, as it

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Yellow Tints of Teeth Probably Are Inherited

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

From the mailbag:
Q—I'd like to know what makes some people's teeth white and some yellow. I've had yellow teeth for as long as I can remember even though I brush hard with baking soda and toothpaste.
A—Crowns of teeth are made of dentin covered by a layer of enamel. Coloration of teeth is dependent on color of dentin and thickness and quality of enamel. If dentin is yellow and enamel is thin, the yellow dentin shines through the thin translucent enamel giving teeth a yellow look. If dentin is light yellow and enamel is thick, teeth look white.
Color of dentin and thickness and quality of enamel are probably inherited characteristics.

Q—The top four front teeth of my 5-year-old daughter are dark and the enamel is wearing away. What causes this?

A—There are many reasons for discolored baby teeth. Most common stains are caused by certain foods and medicines, including some fruits and vegetables, sometimes yolks of soft-boiled eggs and medicines that contain iron compounds.

Such stains can be removed by dental prophylaxis. But prevention is the best, easiest and least expensive way of eliminating discoloration: brush teeth after each time you eat. Clean teeth don't stain as readily as dirty ones.
Brown stain may result from use of antibiotics of the tetracycline group. If any of these drugs are taken by child or expectant mother at a time when enamel is forming, baby's teeth can become stained, and these stains are permanent.

Other stains can be due to ingestion of excess fluorides. In some areas of the United States there are excessive amounts of fluorides in water and soil. This can produce permanent mottling of enamel.

Violent injury to teeth turned out, things weren't and the Vietnamese weren't.

Over the weekend the American commander in Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, flew to Johnson's Texas ranch and talked with him four hours about problems, present and future. Then the men met with reporters.

Then — this was the confident part — Johnson said the Communists will not defeat the American forces in Vietnam and that a victory for them is not only "improbable" but "impossible."

Then he stood under this gloomy umbrella: Although he said the Reds can't win, he admitted he doesn't know when they finally will stop trying.

On, as he put it: "The single most important factor in our will to prosecute the war until the Communists recognize the futility of their ambitions, either end the fighting or seek a peaceful settlement." And further, because no one can say when the Communists will admit they can't win, no one can say how long many more Americans will be needed in Vietnam to continue the

The impact of the current tight-money market on housing shows up in the rise in home mortgage interest rates this year. Figures from the Federal Home Loan Bank Board show average rates throughout the country climbing steeply for loans on both used and new houses.

Rookie Posts 4th Shutout For Redbirds

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Larry Jaster must wait until the last week of the season to find out if he's another Grover Cleveland Alexander.

Jaster, St. Louis' rookie southpaw, posted his fourth shutout of the season against Los Angeles Friday night as the Cardinals defeated the Dodgers 4-0.

The shutout left Jaster one away from equalling the major-league record of five in one season against one club. Only two pitchers have accomplished the feat in modern times, one in each league.

Alexander did it for Philadelphia against Cincinnati in 1916 in the National League, and Tom Hughes of Washington did it against Cleveland in 1905 in the American.

If Jaster is to tie the mark, he'll have to do it in the Cardinals' four-game series with the Dodgers Sept. 26 through Sept. 29.

The 22-year-old left-hander has no concrete explanation for his incredible success against the Dodgers, who are only two games out of first place in the NL.

"I can't explain it," he said after pitching a five-hitter. "I've just had real good stuff every time I pitched against them. They don't have any home run hitters, and I just rear back and throw."

"I'm too careful against some of the other teams in the league. When I am careful is when I get hurt."

Jaster apparently is too careful just about every other time he pitches. His four shutouts against Los Angeles are the only four he has this year, and they also represent the only four games he's completed in 13 starts.

He's 8-3 over-all with a 3.43 earned run average. But deduct his 36 consecutive scoreless innings against the Dodgers, and his ERA soars to 5.46.

In other NL games Chicago edged Pittsburgh 4-3 in 10 innings, Atlanta downed San Francisco 8-5, Philadelphia nipped New York 5-1 in 10 and Houston topped Cincinnati 4-3.

In the American League, Detroit crushed Baltimore 10-4, Cleveland nipped Chicago 3-2 in 10, Minnesota edged Boston 2-1, Washington trimmed California 5-3 and New York defeated Kansas City 7-5, then lost 1-0.

Julian Javier gave Jaster all the support he needed, driving in two runs with a single and a double.

The Pirates lost their third straight game. They tied the game 3-3 on Roberto Clemente's two-run single in the eighth, but Chicago won in the 10th when Glenn Beckert singled home George Altman, who had reached first on Donn Clendenon's fumble.

By losing, San Francisco remained a percentage point behind Pittsburgh in the NL race. Atlanta put the game beyond reach in the seventh when Rico Carty hit a three-run homer and Mack Jones followed with a bases-empty blast. Willie Mays and Jim Hart connected for the Giants.

Rich Allen's two-out homer in the 10th boosted Philadelphia past New York. Ken Boyer's run-scoring single put the Mets ahead 4-3 in the seventh, but Harvey Kuenn's run-producing single tied it in the ninth.

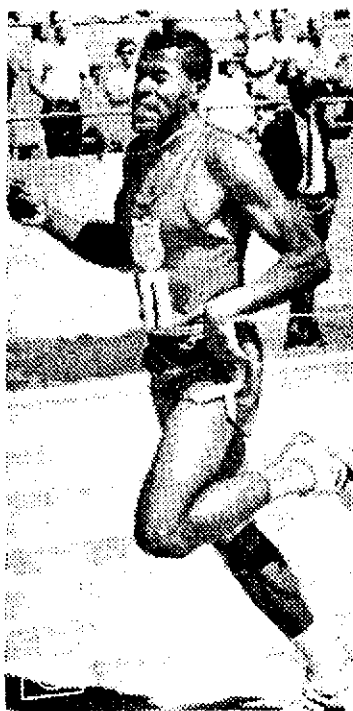

Sonny Jackson rapped four hits, the last a ninth-inning single after which he scored the winning run for Houston on Rusty Staub's single. Jackson also hit a two-run homer in the first.

China Producer of Movies Purged

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China's top movie producer has been purged because his film advocated "human love" between a rich man and poor girl, a Hong Kong newspaper said today.

"This lack of class struggle is a clear case of revisionism," the Independent newspaper Ming Pao said in reporting Fan Chue-sheng was the latest Chinese leader to be caught up in Peking's purge.

The newspaper said Tsai, chairman of All China Confederation of Motion Picture Workers, and his magazine, Motion Picture Arts, had been under severe attack from newsmen in Communist China for anti-party activities.

Coaches Are Guardedly Optimistic

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Southwest Conference football coaches expressed Thursday night their usual guarded optimism about the approaching gridiron season — with the exception of Texas Christian's Abe Martin, whose optimism was bubbling over.

"We have more speed than we normally have, made a good finish last season and have an undefeated freshman team," he told the 1,400 persons attending the eighth annual football rally sponsored by the Greater Fort Worth Sports Committee.

Texas Tech coach J. T. King was more cautious.

"I think we will make ourselves felt before the season is out although we will be inexperienced," he said.

Gene Stallings, coach at Texas A&M, made no prediction about how his team might fare but he said: "We have some outstanding seniors and I think they will do well for us."

John Bridgers, Baylor's coach, said: "We now have the longest winning record in the conference — two games in a row — and I will be under much pressure."

Southern Methodist's Hayden Fry told the audience that he will have an improved team.

He said a Chinese calendar states "this is the year of the horse and I consider that a good omen." The SMU mascot is a pony.

Jess Neely, who retires after this fall after coaching Rice for 27 years, was given a standing ovation and was praised for his contributions to sports and the Southwest Conference.

Charles (Bud) Wilkinson, former University of Oklahoma coach and the principal speaker, said football presents the same challenge as civilization. "How good do you want to be and are you willing to pay the price for your development?"

Texas Coach Darrell Royal made a plea for red-shirting, saying it should be called the "five-year plan because it is a great benefit to boys who might miss out on a year of football because of injuries or other reasons."

Jim Crow, former Texas A&M grid star and a longtime coach at Baylor, was presented the Fort Worth Sports Committee Award for his contribution to sports during the past 50 years.

Group Calls for Kennedy Spirit

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—A presidential conference of five Latin-American countries wound up Tuesday night with a call to bring back "the spirit of John F. Kennedy" to the Alliance for Progress.

The presidents of Chile, Venezuela and Colombia and the representatives of Ecuador and Peru said the alliance should be an instrument for the defense of prices of Latin America's basic exports.

Colts Blast Cardinals In 33-7 Victory

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Colts won their 10th straight pro football exhibition game Friday night emphasizing anew that they will be a strong contender for the National Football League title this season.

The Colts spotted St. Louis a 7-0 lead on the opening kickoff, then exploded for a convincing 33-7 victory over the Cardinals before 28,304 at Busch Memorial Stadium.

The game, nationally televised over the CBS network, started a busy weekend for the pros. Five NFL exhibitions are scheduled tonight along with four in the American League, including a two-night double-header at Anaheim, Calif. One Sunday NFL exhibition winds up the weekend competition.

Four field goals by Lou Michaels, two long punt returns by Alvin Haymond and the passing of quarterback Johnny Unitas paced the Colts to their third straight pre-season victory of the 1966 season. Their 10 straight exhibition string of successes started back in 1964 after a 30-21 defeat, oddly, by St. Charles Johnson's 7-yard pass to Sonny Randall gave the Cardinals their lone TD and climaxed a 77-yard drive after receiving the opening kickoff.

Thereafter the Colts took command. Quarterback John Brodie is expected to make his first start for the San Francisco 49ers against the Pittsburgh Steelers at Portland, Ore. in one of tonight's NFL games. In the others, Green Bay is at Dallas, Los Angeles at Minnesota, Cleveland at Atlanta while Chicago and Washington clash at Norfolk.

The AFL twin bill at Anaheim pits Boston against Oakland and Kansas City against San Diego. The New York Jets play Miami at Jacksonville Fla. while Buffalo and Houston battle at Little Rock, Ark.

The NFL Sunday afternoon fray pits the New York Giants against Detroit at New Haven, Conn. in the annual Albie Booth Memorial game.

Rookie Ousts Famed Wahoo McDaniel

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

They said Frank Emanuel was tough and he's turned out to be too tough even for Wahoo McDaniel, a successful professional wrestler when he's not playing pro football.

Emanuel, the All-America linebacker from Tennessee who got a reported $200,000 to sign with Miami's new American Football League team, has grappled with McDaniel, the former New York Jet, for the Dolphins' middle linebacker spot.

Wednesday, Miami Coach George Wilson said that Emanuel would start at middle linebacker in Saturday's exhibition game against the Jets at Jacksonville, Fla. McDaniel will move to the right side.

Emanuel, a 225-pounder from Newport News, Va., was kicked off Tennessee's football team two years ago for getting involved in an off-campus altercation. He was later cleared of the incident, and followed this by joining the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and making talks to youth groups.

The All-America climaxed an outstanding season in 1965 by being named Most Valuable Lineman after the Vols crushed Tulsa 27-6 in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

While Emanuel was winning his battle for a regular berth in the Dolphins' camp at Boca Raton, Fla., Frank Buncom, another linebacker returned to the training quarters of the San Diego Chargers in Escondido, Calif., and signed his 1966 contract.

Buncom and Ron Mix, an all-league tackle, left camp Monday following a salary dispute. Mix is still unsigned.

Meanwhile in the National League, the Washington Redskins traded defensive end John Paluck to the Chicago Bears for veteran defensive tackle Stan Jones and a future high draft choice. Green Bay and Atlanta also negotiated. The new Falcons acquired kicking specialist Larry Moore from the Packers for a future draft choice.

St. Louis Cardinals

Charley Johnson

OFFENSE

PASSING—Charley Johnson has his detractors. He's a trifle short. He can't throw long accurately. He doesn't function in bad weather. Those are the rumors. But he holds every Cardinal passing record, and a lot of teams would like to have him because he can get a hot hand. RATING—B+

RECEIVING—The same alignment operates again, Sonny Randle and Bobby Joe Conrad for the long stuff, Jackie Smith at tight end. Randle and Conrad are 30 but still spry as ever. Bill Gambrell has been a good relief man for them. Moe Hammock can spell Smith. No complaints are being heard. RATING—B+

RUNNING—Plenty of bodies, as usual, and augmented this year by high-priced rookies Johnny Roland and Roy Shivers. It's tough to see how Coach Charley Johnson can keep them all. The incumbent regulars are Bill Triplett and Joe Chidress, pressed by Bill Thornton, Willis Crenshaw and Prentice Gault. Others should have such problems. RATING—B+

LINE—Again a multitude of quality. Particularly impressive are center Bob DeMarco, tackle Ernie McMillan—both all-pro types. So's Ken Gray, the guard and leader of the unit. There'd be plenty of takers for Ivor Goode and Bob Reynolds, who round out the unit. The only possible problem is to develop depth behind them. RATING—A-

KICKING—Jim Bakken handles both the punting and placekicking with aplomb and good results. He's even being worked at quarterback this year, too. For emergencies, Conrad can toe placekicks, Smith and Jerry Stovall can punt. RATING—B-

DEFENSE

LINE—The front four dipped severely in effectiveness last year and now Luke Owens has been retired for health reasons. Winner, a defense specialist, will have to concentrate on this department. He'll need a stronger pass rush from ends Don Brumm, Joe Robb. Sam Silas still gets trapped occasionally. Chuck Walker, Ed McCawley offer some help. RATING—C

LINEBACKER—Good experience with Dale Meiner in middle, Bill Knimon on right. They're showing up a little, but you need those old heads in there. Larry Stallings is a vigorous strong side backer. Dave Simmons and Dave McGregory are capable of stepping in, too. RATING—B

SECONDARY—The better umbrella against passes in league when all are playing up to form. That means Pat Fischer, Jim Burson on corners and Larry Wilson, the original masher, and Stallard at safeties. Even an old star like Abe Woodson can't escape that combo. Couple of rookies, Mike Ringler and Jim Heidel, provide support. RATING—A-

SUMMARY—New Coach Charley Johnson is in enviable position of having a team that's stacked as well as any in NFL, except in the defensive line. At same time, the Cardinals had a morale problem last year that bogged them down. Everbody expects Charley to live up to his name. PREDICTION—THIRD

Prizefighter and the Lady

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

MONZA, Italy — (NEA) — The good life for Enzo Fiermonte once meant Deauville and Monte Carlo in the spring and fall, Southampton in the summer and Palm Beach in the winter.

Not bad for a pug with one tin ear.

In the early 1930s, America was still caught in the grips of depression, but Enzo beat the rap. He married the widow of John Jacob Astor, who went down with the Titanic and left the Lady set for life.

Today, Enzo settles for a little bachelor apartment on the Via Topino in his native Rome and a little farm 20 kilometers outside of town, in Mentana, where chickens walk through the streets.

"Only two acres," he said, "big enough to grow everything."

And the height of living for Enzo is to have you in for dinner, when he can show off his special antipasto made of fresh cheese, ham, artichoke, ravioli and "lotsa oil."

He's 58 and looks 45, with a flat stomach and the discerning eye of a gay boulevardier. Maybe the curly hair on top's gone, but you can tell Enzo was a good-looking guy.

He was also, 35 years ago, a good-looking fighter in line for a shot at the middleweight championship of the world. The only way you can tell it now is a slight cauliflower on his left ear, and Enzo claimed he got that playing English football (soccer) before he ever became a fighter.

Then the fighter married the Lady, and their turbulent life splashed across the tabloids. There was the matter of the Lady getting rid of her current husband, and Enzo casting off Signora Tosca Manetti Fiermonte, who was back home minding the bambino in Italy.

Then the Lady made him quit the ring.

"She hurt me, and she help," he shrugged. "I got no education. I was work since I was 12 years old. I couldn't do nothing else."

So life with Madeleine introduced him to the elegance of the pre-jet set, and Enzo, with his marcelled hair (you're with me, dad, if you remember that one), cut a striking figure. That's all he did, too.

"I wanted men's shop," he said. "To keep busy. She was afraid other women come in there. She didn't want me to work," he said, "and down to 200,000 lire ($300) when they hire me for this film. Thank God for John Frank, enheimer (the director)."

"Now with the money I'm gonna build a house on my little farm and raise vegetables and cook for my friends."

Both male and female.

Enzo is still in the movies. He's playing the part of the team manager—a thinly disguised Enzo Ferrari—in "Grand Prix," an auto racing film being shot on location all over Europe. But there have been tough times over the years.

"I was six months without work," he said, "and down to 200,000 lire ($300) when they hire me for this film. Thank God for John Frank, enheimer (the director)."

have no money. To her, $25,000 was like one dollar to you."

Enzo thought he saw his way out when he hit the roulette wheel at Monte Carlo in 1935 and broke the bank. "I won three million lire," he recalled, "that's a 200,000 dollar. But my wife made me stay and play until I lost all. That's when I left her."

Enzo had quit the ring while in training at the family mansion in Southampton for a fight with Slinky Maxie Rosenbloom, the light-heavyweight champion. His nose was and still is arrow straight. (He explained, "I was 'contra puncher.'")

In no mood to risk bending it, he turned to clay pigeon shooting for a living. He shot at Monaco and all over Europe for prizes up to 50,000 francs.

"I made 200,000 francs a year," he said, "and drove a Duesenberg. You could stay in a nice pension in Cannes for 120 francs a week. Then I went into movies and played leading man 22 times with such actresses as Silvana Pampanini."

Worst Strike
In Airlines
History Ends

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jet planes of five major airlines prepared to wing skyward today after machinists ended a six-week strike that profoundly shook the administration's economic policy and gave Congress its biggest political scare in years.

"The strike is now over," said President P. L. (Roy) Siemiller of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists after militant union members voted 17,727 to 8,235 to accept a lucrative new contract and end the worst airlines walkout in U.S. history.

Shortly after the vote was announced, spokesmen for the five airlines — Eastern, United, Northwest, National and Trans World — said some flights would be taking off early today.

The contract approval sending 35,400 strikers back to work permits Congress to drop politically explosive legislation that would have ordered strikers back to their jobs for the first time in U.S. history. Organized labor had lined up solidly in opposition to the legislation.

But it shatters White House guidelines designed to limit wage hikes to 3.2 per cent a year and sets a precedent for other unions to cite in pressing for faster paychecks.

Estimated at a 6 per cent or more annual increase, the new contract gives 15 per cent in wage hikes over three years plus a cost-of-living guarantee against sharply rising prices worth up to 6 cents more per hour in the final year of the agreement in 1968. This means top-rated mechanics, who have been receiving $3.25 an hour, will be paid at least $4.08 an hour within three years.

Siemiller already was looking to the future.

"It is just like a prize fight," he said. "This round is over, but there will be another one in 2 years and 4 months," referring to the contract's expiration date. Fully paid pensions and better health benefits and vacations will be prime goals next time, Siemiller said.

In an early indication to the effect of the hefty contract, the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America said in taking a nationwide strike vote among Western Electric Co. telephone installers that it was shooting for a similar agreement designed to shatter the administration's anti-inflation wage guidelines.

Bay Window Gives Victims Confidence
in Confidence Man

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: Professional confidence men rarely go on diets. Being portly often is helpful to them, they find, for the public instinctively tends to put more trust in a man who has a bit of a bay window.

No matter how often the voters change administrations, they never seem to put a man in power strong enough to get the U.S. Post Office Department to put more glue on its stamps.

The real reason most men don't get divorces is that if they even bring up the subject, their wives get angry.

If bartenders had their way, it would still be illegal to serve a woman a drink in public, or a minister.

Security is hard to find, but in New York City the most secure people seem to be those who own a delicatessen. They almost never go broke.

The worst sin that can be committed in the kitchen is to undercook turkey. Runner-up: Trying to cover up a culinary disaster by putting in more garlic.

You can win money by betting that two out of the next three women you see wearing big pearl button earrings will be plump, and below average height.

Leaves 40 Dead

ROME (AP) — Authorities today counted more than 40 dead from auto accidents and from weekend storms that raked northern Italy with lightning, torrential rains and winds that caused many auto accidents.

At least 12 persons perished when waves swamped small sailboats on northern Italy's picturesque lakes.

Lightning killed at least eight others, including four mountain climbers struck as they scaled peaks in the Alps.

Aussie Unit
Batters Cong
Killing 227

By JOHN CANTWELL

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Australian infantrymen hunted remnants of a North Vietnamese battalion 40 miles southeast of Saigon today after battering the Communists with artillery fire and killing at least 227 of them.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Viet Nam, called the Aussies' action a "significant victory."

Over North Viet Nam, U.S. pilots pounded oil depots in the southern panhandle Friday and left the area exploding in flames, the U.S. military command said.

Elsewhere, the ground war was relatively quiet. U.S. troops reported little or no contact.

At coastal Qui Nhon 280 miles southeast of Saigon, 800 fresh troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division came ashore today, raising the total of American manpower in South Viet Nam to 297,000 men. The new troops moved immediately to the division's central highland headquarters at An Khe.

Progress
Being Made in Watts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Significant progress has been made in correcting conditions which led to the South Central Los Angeles riots a year ago, but much remains to be done, says the McCone Commission.

"We are encouraged but far from satisfied," the commission said in its progress report Wednesday.

Following six days of rioting in the Watts area that left 34 dead a year ago, Gov. Edmund G. Brown appointed the commission with John A. McCone as its chairman to investigate and make recommendations.

Now, in a followup study of the predominantly Negro area, a chief disappointment was progress in education.

"Despite substantial aid from federal and state agencies, piecemeal efforts to implement new programs have not been effective in meeting the unique educational needs of the culturally disadvantaged," the new report said.

The commission said its recommendation for a "massive onslaught on illiteracy" has not been fulfilled, recommended reduction in school class sizes has not been accomplished, and the Head Start program for preschoolers is inadequate.

The commission did find improved counseling and cafeteria facilities in schools.

Lack of progress in education, the commission said, could be blamed on budgetary considerations at the federal, state and local levels. "The absence of greater achievement does not stem from any lack of agreement."

On the positive side, the commission found "impressive results have been achieved in the field of employment and training." Although stating that accurate figures are difficult to obtain, the report said it appears 10,000 residents of the area have found jobs.

Separately, McCone said the greatest improvement he could see was in employment.

Also, the commission said, "it is encouraging to find new... and promising initiatives by law enforcement agencies in their relations with members of the minority communities and in their efforts to recruit officers from these communities."

Simulator Provides Real Test for Those
Learning to Drive

By MARY ANITA LASETER

This summer the youth of our area have been most fortunate in receiving guidance and instruction in the proper way to drive a car. As part of Drivers Education at Hope High, 26 students received instruction in a six-week course taught by Grady Cathey, assisted by Joe Hart.

This was concluded after the first summer school.

As was expected, the students were taught in class and on-the-road. But another important phase of the training occurred during the third, fourth, and fifth weeks of the course. Then, an Arkansas State Police simulator was at the school. This is a trailer equipped with twelve complete sets of controls from Chevrolet cars, and students can put into practice everything a driver would actually do. The only difference is that the student can't get hurt in this "car." Oh, yes. The simulator is also able to record all mistakes made by the "driver," and the student is thus able to know how to correct errors.

Principal Cathey instructed the student drivers in classroom and car, and Coach Hart had charge of simulator. Films were included during the course, and students were encouraged to take advantage of the Youth Automotive Program presented by the County Extension Department under the sponsorship of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

The purpose of the program is to help boys and girls gain understanding and appreciation of regulations, laws & highway safety; to assume the responsibility for the care and effective maintenance of an automobile; to develop attitudes and habits of courtesy, competence, and mature judgment that is required of skilled drivers; to explore the vocational opportunities in automotive and mechanical fields; to prepare for responsible citizenship in a nation on wheels.

Four times during the summer meetings were held at the Hempstead County Courthouse under the direction of County Agent Calvin Caldwell with assistance from state, county, and local authorities on traffic problems. On June 7 there were 62 present to hear a program on highway safety and traffic laws. June 21 found 90 on hand for a highway safety program that included illustrations of the time needed for eyesight recovery from the glare of bright lights.

Automobile insurance was discussed at the July 19 meeting, and 53 also learned many facts about speed and time required to stop a car. A moot court was held on Monday night of this week to climax the program. Judge John Wilson and attorneys Al Graves and Larry Patterson with five boys and girls enacted a trial following "an accident at 2nd and Pine."

Youth Automotive Program was originally designed for 4-H Club boys and girls 14-17 years of age, but was expanded to include anyone of any age who wanted to attend and participate. Many adults were in attendance, but as one instructor said, "Drivers education should be for everyone."

Local citizens who comprise the Youth Automotive Program committee and who lent their whole-hearted support to its objectives were: Sheriff Jimmie Griffin, Captain Milton Mosier, Lieutenant Guy Downing, Police Chief Alvin Willis, Duffie Day Booth, Haskell Jones, Lester Kent, Pod Rogers, Judge John Wilson, Raymond Byers, Jim James, and Mrs. Ernest Graham.

Crabs Aren't
Crawling Faster

BURNHAM ON CROUCH, England (AP) — Men who study the behavior of shellfish reported today that British crabs aren't crawling any faster.

The land speed record for crabs from the North Sea stands at 13 miles in 23 days, set in 1962 by a female crab. Her nearest rival was another female who clocked 45 miles in 114 days in the same year.

Male crabs are less dashing, said the Shellfish Research Laboratory, adding that it has tagged and released 7,500 crabs in the past four years to study what they do next.

Many Would Like to See
Draft Change

NEW YORK (AP) — Many of the nation's draft-eligible young men, responding to questions from President Johnson, say they would like to see a change in the draft board quota system.

An Associated Press survey today asked men of draft age to answer the President's invitation to youth to tell him how to improve the "crazy quilt" Selective Service pattern.

Speaking in Washington Thursday to high school and college students who have been working for the government this summer, the President said he's looking for answers to these questions:

1. "Does the present system have flaws or inequities which should be corrected?"

2. "Can we make the draft system fairer and more effective?"

3. "Can we, without harming national security, establish a practical system of nonmilitary alternatives to the draft?"

This was the consensus of replies:

1. Yes, there are flaws in the present draft, particularly in the local board quota system, which many of the young men said threatens college students in some areas while leaving single nonstudents untapped in others. Many also suggested a better system of study and occupational deferments.

2. Yes, the draft system can be made fairer and more effective, with more complete utilization of the talents of the nation's youth.

3. No, nonmilitary alternatives to the draft would not be practical. They would create more problems than they would solve.

Endorsements
of Holt Aided
Jim Johnson

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — One factor in the Democratic gubernatorial primary victory of Jim Johnson may have been his opponent's endorsement by liberal whites, labor groups or Negroes, a Negro leader said Thursday night.

I. S. McClinton, president of the Arkansas Democratic (Negro) Voters Association, also said the mixup in the lieutenant governor's race could have had something to do with Johnson's victory over Frank Holt.

Among the groups which endorsed Holt were the ADVA and the Arkansas State AFL-CIO.

Johnson, an avowed segregationist, won the runoff primary by 15,000 votes.

McClinton said that many Negroes in the state are concerned and disillusioned to some degree over the results of the runoff.

The state's Negro leaders will meet sometime next month in an effort "to help regroup our interests for the Nov. 8 general election," McClinton said.

"One of the first things that we are concerned about is to immediately launch a voter registration program and a voter education program," he said.

"Since there is an active threat of a two-party system in Arkansas," he said, "both parties are going to have to be concerned about the platform of their major candidates."

"It might be well for the top party brass to have a party platform and ask the candidates to subscribe to the platform before the party accepts the nomination of the potential officeholder," McClinton said.

Court Order To Restrict Marchers

CHICAGO (AP) — Civil rights leaders are under a court order restricting the scope of open housing demonstrations, which have been marked by violence in all-white neighborhoods, but Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said marches "probably will be resumed Sunday as planned."

"We are prepared to put thousands in the street if need be," he said.

Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington issued the temporary restraining order Friday at the request of the city of Chicago and Police Supt. Orlando W. Holmes.

His order limits the number of demonstrators to 500, permits only one march a day, only during non-rush hour daylight periods and requires that police be given 24 hours advance notice of any demonstration.

The city's complaint, filed at the direction of Mayor Richard J. Daley, accused civil rights leaders of carrying out a plan of "creative tension." It said that "major civil disturbances erupted" in June and July "resulting in damages in excess of several million dollars to private property, the death of 27 persons and injury to 374 persons, including 61 police officers."

The reference to 27 deaths apparently covered all killings attributed to racial tensions in the city. No violent deaths have been reported during the marches into white neighborhoods in support of open housing. Two persons were shot and killed during riots on the West Side in mid-July.

King, who said earlier that "Sunday will be a big day in the city of Chicago" called the injunction action "unjust, illegal and unconstitutional."

King, chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said: "We don't consider this injunction a setback. This will only mobilize us more and unify us."

King arranged to confer with attorneys, his staff members and leaders of other civil rights groups. There was no immediate indication whether they would violate the restraining

Systemic
Insecticides
Help Cattle

August is a good time to start using systemic insecticides on your beef cattle. Used from July through October, systemic insecticides will protect your cattle during the summer from horn flies and ticks. Grubs and lice will be controlled through the winter, says County Agent Calvin J. Caldwell.

At least three applications should be made in July, August, and September if full benefit and best control are to be obtained. Where good application is made, horn fly control may be expected for as long as three to four weeks.

Two systemic insecticides are now registered for spraying and used as a pour on treatment. One material is registered as a feed and mineral additive for feeding over an extended period.

Ruelene is an emulsifiable concentrate and may be used at a 1.25 per cent spray made by adding 1 gallon of 25 per cent Ruelene concentrate to 100 gallons of water. It may be mixed at the rate of 1 gallon of concentrate to 3 gallons of water and used as a pour-on treatment. Use one ounce of this mixture to each 100 pounds of cow, up to eight ounces per animal.

Co-Ral is a wettable powder and should be used at the rate of 8 pounds of 25 per cent wettable power to 100 gallons of spray. It can also be mixed at the rate of 4 pounds of 25 per cent wettable powder to 3 gallons of water and poured down the back line of the animal.

Animals should be sprayed thoroughly. About 1/2 gallon of spray will usually wet a large animal with short hair. As the hair gets heavy, more spray is required to wet the naimal to the skin.

Ronnel is used in feed and minerals. Where animals are allowed free choice of this material as recommended, horn flies and cattle grubs will be controlled.
